How did the Fund perform last year?

The Fund outperformed the Russell 2000 Index in 2024, driven by positive stock selection across Financials, Health Care, and Industrials. Within Financials, the portfolio's asset management holdings delivered the strongest positive impact as asset growth provided an earnings tailwind for several fund holdings across the sector. Stock selection was also strong among Health Care names which were integral in solving evolving global health challenges. Industrials was another area of strength with holdings in the electrical equipment industry significantly outpacing their peers. The Fund's lack of Energy exposure was the key driver of the positive sector allocation effects as Energy was the only sector to deliver negative returns for the calendar year.

Stock selection detracted in Information Technology, where a narrow selection of mega-cap names dominated the index during the year. The Fund also saw weaker selection in Consumer Discretionary where several auto industry names lost ground amid a slowdown in auto sales. Retail names also saw weaker consumer demand, which weighed on fund holdings across the sector.
