

Impax and Impax Environmental Markets awarded London Stock Exchange's new Green Economy Mark accreditation

London, 11 October 2019 - Impax Asset Management (“Impax”), the specialist asset manager investing in the transition to a more sustainable global economy, is pleased to announce the Group has been awarded the London Stock Exchange’s (“LSE”) new Green Economy Mark. Impax Environmental Markets Plc (“IEM”), Impax’s flagship investment trust investing in environmental markets, has also been awarded the Mark, which officially launched today.

The LSE Green Economy Mark has been created to clearly highlight to investors those companies and investment funds on all segments of the Main Market and AIM that derive 50% or more of their total annual revenues from products and services that contribute to the global green economy.

Ian Simm, Founder and CEO of Impax welcomed the designation, saying: “Asset owners are increasingly seeking to build exposure to the rapidly expanding green economy, and LSE’s new Green Economy Mark will make it much easier for anyone looking to identify opportunities in this area. With over twenty years’ of experience investing in the green economy and twelve years of partnership with FTSE Russell on managing and developing “environmental markets” and “green revenues” taxonomies, Impax is delighted to be one of the first recipients of this Mark.”

We believe that capital markets will be shaped profoundly by global sustainability challenges, including climate change, pollution and essential investments in human capital, infrastructure and resource efficiency. These trends will drive growth for well- positioned companies and create risks for those unable or unwilling to adapt.

We seek to invest in higher quality companies with strong business models that demonstrate sound management of risk.

Impax offers a well-rounded suite of investment solutions spanning multiple asset classes seeking superior risk-adjusted returns over the medium to long term.
